Torrance-Lomita District Proved Excellent for Chicken Ranching; 5000 Layers on Gainsley Property

That the Torrance-Lomita district is especially adapted for chicken ranching is the testimony of W. E. Gainsley, who is making a notable success in the business at Gainsley's Lomita Ranch west of Lomita and inside the Torrance city limits. The ranch was started in 1914 with 200 hens. There are now 5,000 layers on the property.

At the request of Carl L. Hyde, secretary of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Gainsley wrote a letter detailing his methods and results. The letter follows in part:

"We started our present ranch from Mr. O. S. Weston in 1916 moving from Inglewood with 200 hens. From 1916 to 1920 we were limited in space, expanding a little each year. The 5 1/2 acres we now occupy for our ranch was purchased in 1921. From 1921 we have turned the profits of the ranch to further the expansion of the business.

"The ranch now has a capacity for 10,000 laying hens and brooding capacity for 5,000 chicks at each brood. We have 15 to 20 thousand sand chicks each season. Many of the pullets raised are sold to commercial poultry men for laying.

"The laying houses are of our own design worked out for this locality and incorporate many labor saving features. Four houses are each 24 by 120 feet and one house 24 by 100 feet, all having hot water. The houses are divided into sections, food, eggs and incubators are housed in a 24

Work Started on Last Section of Torrance Sewer

Work has been started on the last section of the Torrance trunk sewer from Western avenue south to the big county main. The Torrance trunk will pass through a tunnel under Western avenue and the Pacific Electric tracks which parallel East Road and will run southerly to the main sewer. With the big main rapidly nearing completion and the last link in the Torrance trunk under way Mayor John Dennis, director of Sanitary District No. 5 of which Torrance is part said there is no doubt in his mind that connection will be made with the Torrance municipal system by Jan. 1, 1928.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lynch, Mrs. Blackwell and son L. S. Blackwell have returned from a delightful two weeks' vacation. They were entertained at Redding by Mr. and Mrs. J. Bought; attended the state fair at Sacramento, and at Stockton were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller. The party travelled north over the coast route and returned over the Ridge.

Mayors Impressed by Progress Made on Metropolitan Sewers

Directors of the Sanitation Districts in the Metropolitan Sewer Plan expressed themselves as being well pleased with the progress being made in the construction of the metropolitan sewers, after an extended inspection trip last Thursday.

The inspection began at the disposal plant where the excavation is completed and the forms in place ready for pouring concrete. A. K. Warren, chief engineer of the County Sanitation Districts, explained the process of the treatment that will be given the sewage. The party then passed on to the first section of the joint outfall line which is being constructed by the Ross Construction Company. This section is semi-elliptical, 9 1/2 feet in diameter. Above this section, the party inspected several miles of the completed line and walked through a section of the line which is 6 feet 6 inches in diameter concrete with the inside lined with clay tile, while the joints between the clay liners are filled with a sand and sulphur compound.

Mayor Hauge of Long Beach expressed himself as being very much surprised at the progress of the work that has been accomplished since District No. 3 formally withdrew from the project and exhibited considerable interest in the lines in which District No. 3 and Long Beach would participate.

U. S. C. Night College Offers Courses Public Most Demands

Community demand for specific instruction has dictated, in part, the schedule of night college courses announced for the 1927 Fall Quarter of University College (opening September 19th) the evening branch of the University of Southern California.

Doctors' assistants in professional offices are offered a course in general bacteriology, including analysis of air, water, milk, and microscopic slide preparation. Dietitians are offered an evening course in physiological chemistry, covering the newer discoveries in the field of nutrition.

Real estate salesmen, brokers, and investors are offered a group of practical night courses, including appraising, real estate law, real estate finance, land economics, apartment house management, fire and property insurance, and real estate conveyancing, the latter preparing for the state brokers examination.

Business men and women are offered courses in advertising, business law, corporation finance, credit management, accounting, retail buying, personnel management, foreign trade, traffic management, commercial Spanish, and business analysis and forecasting.

Cultural courses include music, Russian literature, Spanish conversation, French, interior decoration, American literature, German, feature writing, history of architecture, modern novel, and modern drama.

Kiwanis to Put on KFON Evening

The coming week will be an interesting one for members of the Kiwanis Club of Torrance. Friday noon the club will hear Dr. Wesley M. Barrett of the Barrett Institute of Los Angeles. Next Monday evening the club will stage a ladies' night at the Belmont Club in Long Beach. On this occasion W. W. Widenham, first governor of Kiwanis Second district will relate experiences of his travels in many parts of the world. After the dinner the Kiwanis club will have charge of the Kiwanis frolic over Station KFON. George Steadman, secretary of the local club will act as announcer. A number of Torrance persons will take part in the program. The club had charge of the frolic recently and made such a hit that an encore program was requested.

OWNERS TAKE OVER HOTEL

The Ironton Hotel is now being operated by the owners. Under the management of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Jamieson it has been completely renovated and has been made especially attractive and comfortable.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCormiskey, 2119 Arlington, have returned from a vacation auto trip to San Francisco, Pismo Beach and other points of interest in the north. They were accompanied by Mrs. Price and daughter of Bakersfield.

CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

A certain small boy of the COMMUNITY wanted a FOURTH helping of POTATOES and GRAYV at the DINNER table the other NIGHT and his MOTHER REPLIED him for being so GREEDY and told him that HE was a regular little PIG. The boy's FATHER, thinking that HE should take a HAND in the family DISCIPLINE, spoke to his SON and asked him if he KNEW what a LITTLE PIG was, and we CLAIM that was RUBBING it in, but the TABLES were TURNED when the young man REPLIED that a PIG is renovated and has been made especially attractive and comfortable.—Adv.

P. S.: Our customers are greedy over these Malted Milks, always come back for more.

BUICK for 1928

When Buick improves upon Buick—the standard for the year is set

Buick for 1928 introduces a higher standard of beauty and luxury than the world has ever known. Buick interiors are as modish as exquisite drawing-rooms—as harmoniously colored—and as comfortable. Buick's new Fisher bodies are low-swinging without any loss of head-room or road-clearance. And so, down to the smallest detail of construction, wherever refinements could be made, Buick has made them. Again Buick has improved upon Buick. Again the standard for the year is set.

U. of C. Extension Division to Open Tenth Successful Season

Making remarkable strides since it was organized in Los Angeles in 1917, the extension division of the University of California will start its tenth year the 19th.

Far-reaching in its educational influence throughout the Southland the extension division has increased 1000 per cent in enrollment in a decade, according to Howard S. Noble, associate director of the division in Los Angeles.

Since the Los Angeles district was established the division has extended its work into many centers within a radius which comprises the leading communities of this section of the state.

The schedule this year, according to Mr. Noble, has been carefully worked out to meet the needs of the greatest possible number of persons. The activities of the extension division seek to embrace every line of study which may be demanded by those who enroll for the classes.

The aim of the division, Mr. Noble said, is to give satisfactory instruction to those thousands of men and women whose employment and

OBSERVATIONS

It will sell under the price demanded by the large oil companies. Undoubtedly it will win wide custom. The Royal Dutch-Shell interests of Europe and the Standard Oil Group of the United States are at present fighting a bitter war for oil business in Europe. But the threat of the German synthetic benzine brought them together at least on one point. They joined in a request to the German company to hold the manufactured benzine for two years until the present surplus of petroleum had been used. The Germans refused. Immediately Royal Dutch-Shell and Standard bought heavily in the German company.

The world is little concerned with the controversy between huge oil companies and the German manufacturers of synthetic fuel oil. The significant fact is that Germany has found a substitute for petroleum. The world's supply of oil will not give out for hundreds of years. But if the process invented in Germany proves commercially successful, the price of oil must be forced down eventually—unless of course the process is controlled by companies which produce petroleum. In that event government may step in as they have already done in some countries—and fix the price of all petroleum products.
